

NEXT MAYOR WILL BE A PARTY MAN, SAYS "LONG PAT"

Senator Puts Crimp in Direct Nomination Scheme by Speech to Y. M. C. A.

MACHINE IS NEEDED.

"Look 'Em Over Before You Vote for 'Em." His Advice to Youthful Voters.

Senator Pat H. McCarran practically put the direct nomination scheme of the Y. M. C. A. out of commission at its Bedford branch last night. First, the cadaverous Brooklyn chieftain refused to vote a straw ballot placed in his hands, and then politely declared that he found it necessary to adhere to his policy of "lookin' 'em over" before deciding. Least some misguided youth should go wrong, Pat took up cudgels for the present day system of parties and leaders, and explained at length how necessary he and his administrative skill are to home rule and the general wellbeing of Brooklyn. It can't be said that Mr. McCarran did not emerge with all the honors.

In reality, two rival stump speeches and a sermon were handed the crowd, which numbered probably 1,000 persons.
Pat's rivals were Senator Eugene M.
Travis, a Republican leader, and the Rev. Dr. John F. Carson, of the Central Presbyterian Church, who was slated to wipe out any schism or blasphemy which might creep into the inexperienced meeting of the young Y. M.
C. A. voters after hearing the politicians. It was nicely arranged—Pat first, Travis next and the preacher last.

Pat Got the Applause.

Either the session was a tin-canned Democratic mass meeting or the elu-gated Pat made a lot of Y. M. C. A. voters. Some one hinted that Pat had packed the hall with his followers, but this could not be verified except from the storm of applause which chased him all through his talk.
Pat isn't exactly a Y. M. C. A. member, and, in fact, some say he seldom darkens the doors of the association, but he has only to send in his application to-day. He made a tremendous hit when he denounced, in righteous and strident voice, what he termed the one man party tactics of President Roosevelt and the late lamented candidate Bryan, and his received little short of an ovation when he peaced, with marked demureness, as the only living exponent of faith and morals among the leaders in New York politics.
Pat said the next Mayor ought to be honest, capable and loyal to the constitution, and the crowd almost raised the roof. He said it so calmly and deliber-

McCarran's Advice to Voters of Y. M. C. A.

Look 'em over and weigh 'em before you vote for 'em.
Party government is the best kind.
Leaders are necessary in case for and represent the people.
No candidate agreed upon and recommended solely by the Y. M.
C. A. could be elected—he's got to be in one of the parties.

Seth Low's administration was the best New York has had. Mayor McClellan has been by against a hard job. He hasn't done so badly as people imagine.

Association with politicians has got me into a whole lot of trouble. I'll always listen to Y. M. C. A. advice. But if you have more influence with other party leaders, why, use it, that's all.

ately that they believed it. Even the Secretary, Halser Hammond, who had invited the Senator to speak, shook his hands and declared it a logical and typical Y. M. C. A. talk. Mr. Hammond has been known to have voted for some Democrats, it was said.

Hit Direct Primaries.
"Senator McCarran is a strong party man," said Chairman Edward P. Lyon afterward. "His talk wasn't brilliant, but it was calm, judicial and well received."

Pat sort of queered himself when he first went into the building by asking to be shown all around. It looked like he had never been there before. He inspected the museum, took a few wallops at the punching bag with his companion, Comptroller Metz, looked over a voting machine in the hall and was handed a ballot and asked to select fifteen of fifty prominent men named by Y. M. C. A. members as mayoralty possibilities. But he didn't.

In substance all three speakers stood for the same thing in politics in politics only.
Dr. Carson mentioned a belief in God as essential in quality in a candidate and the others omitted the Crucifix.

McCarran's sheer audacity in refusing to vote a Y. M. C. A. ballot and successfully turning the occasion into a veritable McCarran rally at which his well-known precept of machinery in politics was explained, left no doubt elucidated by himself, left no doubt of gloom among Y. M. C. A. politicians who have advocated direct primaries so long. Even the eloquence of Senator Travis wasn't sufficient to win any substantial applause, and good Dr. Carson's powerful and religious talk couldn't overcome the impression which McCarran had made.

Members Dodge Speeches.

Some opposition to involving McCarran was shown last week in the Y. M. C. A. councils, and possibly it was doubly marked last night. Instead of being in the hall listening to "recognized leaders," as Secretary Hammond called Mc-Carran and Travis, the young prospects were playing billiards, bowling, reading in the library or debating on another floor. A bulk of the membership evidently had previous engagements.

Equally so, is probably the statement that the hall was filled with McCarran supporters who were on hand to shake hands and hohob a bit. In fact, a reception was held in the Y. M. C. A. building after the meeting, attended by about three hundred, with Pat as centre of attraction and guest of honor.

Ident. Becker and twenty-five policemen guarded the doors of the hall. No one knew why, as Y. M. C. A. members are usually quiet, that is Y. M. C. A. officials didn't exactly see the necessity of the policemen.

WOMAN FIRES CHURCHES.

Letters Written to Parishoner Point to Guilty One.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—The pyromaniac who last Thursday set fire to three churches in England is believed to be the police to be a woman. It is said she was arrested a year ago on a similar charge, was found to be demented and not prosecuted. Letters written then by her have been compared to two received by a woman member of one of the churches set afire and the handwriting is declared to be identical. All the letters were threatening.

STOLE $4,000 IN JEWELS.

Fire Escape Burglar Robs House
While Family Dines.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Jewels valued at $4,000 have been stolen from apartments of Miss Florence Scott. The police tried to suppress the news. Miss Scott was dining with friends when the thief climbed a fire escape and forced a rear window.
